

CONTENTS

雑誌名	言語科学論集
巻	2
発行年	1998-11-20
URL	http://hdl.handle.net/10097/00108678

JOURNAL OF LINGUISTIC SCIENCE TOHOKU UNIVERSITY

No. 2

1998

The effects of pronunciation learning strategies in Japanese learning	OGAWARA YOSHIRO	1
The purpose of ‘ Furigana-haishiron ’ Yamamoto Yuuzo ’s practice	KUROKI KAZUHIRO	13
The structure of superheavy syllables in Japanese: Evidence from formations of abbreviation	KUWAMOTO YUJI	25
A Study of Teachers’ Strategies for seeking the Distinction of Synonyms Focusing on Making the Examples	SAKAGUCHI KAZUHIRO	37
A Needs Analysis for Learners of Japanese A case of Korean and Taiwanese	SATO TOMONORI	49
Adjunct Condition Reconsidered	SATO NAOTO	61
On the topic of conversation with a point of the subject-marking particle “ wa ”	TAKAGI SHINJI	73
Reading Strategies used by Intermediate Learners of Japanese a case of Korean Learners	TAKAHASHI AKIKO	85
A Study about Discourse Marker ‘ haziman ’ Approaching from the Face-Action Theory	Cho Young-ho	97
The Young’ s Actual State Of Honorifics In Presentday Japanese Comparison among senior high school students,college students, and members of society	Chen Clementine	109
Fukushima Kyusei’s Japanese Translation of Chinese Words in “COLLOQUIAL CHINESE” Focusing on the Relationship between the Translated Words and Kyushu Dialect	SONODA HIROFUMI	132(13)
Kango “— zen ” in modern Japanese [Meiji,Taishow and early Showa eras]	ONODERA MANABU	144(1)

ISSUED BY
DEPARTMENT OF LINGUISTIC SCIENCE, FACULTY OF ARTS AND LETTERS
TOHOKU UNIVERSITY
SENDAI, JAPAN